ANOTHER LITTLE DANCER
FEATURES VAUDEVILLE HILL
AT THE BOOKER WASHINGTON

There is plenty of pep in the combination of song, dance and comedy in the vaudeville show at the Booker Washington Theatre this week; and the patrons are being well entertained.

Brown and Brown, a mixed team open with a Dixie song and dance followed with jokes and exaggerated stories. A song, "Daddy You Mama's Lonesome for You," by the female member of the team, "Somebody" with a good luck dance by the man; a dash of comic humor, then the act closes with a lively musical dance by the team.

Garnett Wabblington, "Butterlick," is an excellent single performer. He has two good parodies on "The Forever Flowing Bubbles" and "Anything Is Nice" that Comes From Dixie." His monologue is filled with real fun, and in a novel closing, announced as the last of the act, the performer uses a wash tub and board as jazz instruments.

Davis and Harris, another mixed team, enter into a discussion of the rip that originated woman, and set the audience laughing. This is followed by Marie Harris with a cyclone dance and singing "Arkansas Blues." Mr. Davis puts over a few narratives that are original and seemingly funny, clinched with a "I'm Satisfied" song hit. The conversation is new and real. In the second song and dance, is another speedy song and dance.

The Nelson Trio closes the show. A man, a woman and a boy, with the boy as the center of attraction, have an act that scores a decisive hit. After the opening song and dance, the woman sings "Ten Little Fingers" etc., in a good voice, and the man uses recent phrases in his song "Who Is A Shamus," both scoring hits. The last song, "Play Em For Mama" and follows with a descriptive back, filled with comedy and artistically executed. After a humorous round of word sparring by the man and boy, the act closes with a spirited song and dance. The act goes good.

Next Week
Marie Selmon and her "Quicker City Boys" Trio will be the feature on the bill at the Booker Washington Theatre next week. The "Original Queen Dora," supported by her own electric light and all electrical effects, will appear in a variety act. Others on the bill will be Bluch and Bluch, man and woman; and James Helton, a comedian.

Monday will be "Pay Day," as usual when all the patrons will receive an envelope with some spin of money up to $5. Eagle stamps to $10 for a prize.

"Strange Idols," "Muran of the Lady Letty" and "Primitive Lover" At The Lincoln

Justin Farnum in "Strange Idols" will be featured at the Lincoln Theatre this Saturday. It is the story of an unfortunate love match, with its heart burnings and ultimate reunion. The scenic effects include the slight light activities of New York and the shadowed depths of the primitive forest in the Northwoods.

Dorothy Dalton will be seen in "Muran of the Lady Letty" on Sunday. "Muran" is a girl born and reared on the waves, bold and daring and absolutely fearless before Kitchell, the mysterious, sensual captain of the battleship "Heart of China." In the battle scenes aboard the vessel she fights like a tigress.

She is supported by Linda Valentino, Constantine Brinley in "The Primitive Lover" will be the special attraction next Thursday. The picture is a rosy mood-fulfilling for any couple.

Two rival sons, one built along the broad lines and the other remains the slender of original man in his forceful tactics. The "Furnace" kidnaps the object of his ambition only to find that in the fastness of the mountains he is utterly incapable of carrying for his freedom. Not so far away from the brewing edge of his more practical mind drifts back into his cabin with agonizing persistence.

Betty Compson in "The Green Temptation" will be presented at the Comet Theatre this Saturday. Gaspard, the story of a man who, after a long and arduous search, is played by the fine comic actor and proven a masterful figure. He is played by the comedian Miss Compson.

son by an evil influence, dragging her ever downward, until the great secret is made known to him and his friends. The girl is a beautiful girl, who will find to bring forth the better qualities of her husband. The trials and tribulations of Jack and his wife, played with his newly found foster parents make up a most unusual heart interest tale, and finally brings him back into the heart of his mother after his father is sentenced to prison for his brutal attack on her. One of the most interesting stories seen on the screen in a great length of time.

The "special attraction" for next Thursday and Friday at the Comet will be "William Farnum in 'Shackles of Gold.' It is a 'strong man' play and is said to give Farnum a fine opportunity to display his splendid equipment as an actor, to show the virtue stuff of which he is made. He begins as a cold-blooded villain, who goes on a tremendous odyssey, ending in a fine, true, through and through, good man, a society girl who returns to him for his love—a girl who marries him because her parents used his money. Despite all this, Farnum battles his way to love, though he ruins himself financially, as well as the girl who has turned his wife—so that the end of the story brings him the happiness he feared never was to be his.

Miss Gibson in "Headin' West" On Thursday at the Comet. The picture is a story of a man who, after a long and arduous search, is played by the fine comic actor and proven a masterful figure. He is played by the comedian Miss Compson.

one of the best features at this theatre and Afton. The story of "importer" from himself and even the prettiest girl in the state is what makes this picture one of continuous excitement.

Leader Cuneo will be seen in "Masked Avenger" this Saturday at the Comet. The picture is a story of a man who, after a long and arduous search, is played by the fine comic actor and proven a masterful figure. He is played by the comedian Miss Compson.

THEATRES-CONTINUED

"A Wonderful Wife," "Reported Missing," "The Glory of Clem," "The Man Who Married His Own Wife."

Miss Du Pont will be seen in "A Wonderful Wife," at the Fosterman Theatre this Saturday. The absorbing tale of a beautiful woman was willing to go missing for her husband and do too much. How in the crisis she showed her strength makes a picture that is at top interest from start to finish. Owen Moore in "Reported Missing" will be featured on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. The story concerns the efforts of an Oriental shipping king to gain control of a fleet of ships upon which Owen Moore as Richard Bond has an option. An order that young Bond's option will lapse, the wealthy Chinaman arranges to have him slung, haled—and then the fun begins. It is just one thrill and laugh after another, a state bordering on the hysteria at yesterday's showing, particularly when Bond, as the hero's faithful colored servant, began wailing a wicked looking rager in the general direction of the yellow cohorts of the villain. The biggest thrill in the picture is a race between a sea sled and a hydroplane, which is followed by a chase in high powered machines.
